Lapointe Rosenstein Marchand Melançon presents its construction group

Montreal, November 4, 2015 – Lapointe Rosenstein Marchand Melançon is pleased to present its construction law practice group.

This group is comprised of several of the firm's lawyers who devote a significant portion of their practice to the diverse legal issues that arise in the field of construction.

Over the years, having developed construction-related expertise and comprehensive knowledge, this multidisciplinary team of seasoned lawyers and litigators are able to pool their knowledge and efforts in order to remain at the forefront of construction law matters.

The construction group is launching a series of events intended to provide relevant knowledge to a variety of participants involved in construction projects. Property owners, contractors, suppliers, professionals, as well as supervisory and regulatory bodies alike will benefit from free information, newsletters and other activities coordinated by the Lapointe Rosenstein Marchand Melançon construction group, enabling participants to implement appropriate and effective practices conducive to the development and success of their projects.

Join us this coming December 1st for our first cocktail at the Alt Hotel Montreal!

Come meet the members of our team and attend a presentation from Attorneys André Rousseau and Mélicha Rivest who will provide tips and discuss traps to avoid in relation to construction liens (legal hypothecs).
